

red User

SCREEN DAILY

Transmedia gets UK rights to Our Fathers and The Run

11 September, 2006 | By Wendy Mitchell

New UK distributor Transmedia has added two more films to its slate: Our Fathers and The Run.

Dan Curtis' Our Fathers, about sex abuse scandals in the Catholic Church, stars Ted Danson, Christopher Plummer, Daniel Baldwin, Ellen Burstyn and Brian Dennehy.

Tania Meneguzzi's The Run, about a young London couple drawn into the world of drug smuggling, stars Alexandra Weaver, Neil Newbon, David House, Kimberly Jaraj and Trey Farley.

Transmedia has all UK and Ireland rights for the films, which are slated for early 2007 releases.

Last year, the company acquired John Daly's WWII drama The Aryan Couple, which stars Martin Landau, Judy Parfitt and Jake Wood. It will open Oct 13. Transmedia said it would promote the film before its release by offering the trailer and film clips for mobile phones.

Transmedia is headed by CEO Simon Caplan.

Photo: [faded]

